

It's clearly time to open up for public and formal debate the entire matter of radio and television station ownership.

You're trying sneak this past the public and ram it down our throats. You are a public agency dealing with a public commodity. that demands full public debate when you are attempting the changes you are planning.